Dear Sir/Madam,

It is a pleasure to invite you to International Conference on English Learning and Teaching Skills, 2019. The Department of Basic Science and Humanities, Institute of Engineering & Management (IEM) is organising the second international conference in the ICELTS series with the vision to encourage academic exchange in the fields of Language Studies and ELT.

The Institute of Engineering & Management (IEM), Kolkata was founded by Prof. Dr. Satyajit Chakrabarti, an alumnus of IIT Kharagpur, India. Over the years, this institution has acquired a name for quality education in the fields of technology, sciences, and management. The IEM Group has also established two Universities known as University of Engineering & Management (UEM) Kolkata and Jaipur. The number of students studying in IEM Group is nearly 10,000.

CONCEPT NOTE: -

Language Studies and ELT has burgeoned from a community specific area of study to one which caters to professional, academic, pedagogic, and business areas. The newest drives and needs for Language Studies and development in ELT can see an evolution far from the likes of Harold Palmer or Hermann Ebbinghaus.

International Conference on English Learning and Teaching Skills, 2019 aims to put forward the current trends in ELT and Language Studies in order to inspire and develop newer methods of efficient

Learning and Teaching. The conference will strive to open discussions and collaborations on the nascent methodologies shaping up the various sectors of Language Studies: including pedagogic structures, classroom teaching models, knowledge acquisition systems etc.

The themes of the conference cater to the various academic and pedagogic structures, and it encourages the researchers to come together in an effort to create and modify existing tools and theories of knowledge transfer.
